

Editor-in-Chief,
Journal of the Indonesian Tropical Animal Agriculture

With the consent of all authors, I am submitting this manuscript (title is given below) to Journal of the Indonesian Tropical Animal Agriculture for possible publication in near future. This is the only journal where the work has been submitted and has not been published elsewhere (in part or full).

This study was aimed to alleviate heat stress effects on broiler performance by improving the present strategies and suggest new strategies can be followed under summer condition.

Title of manuscript:

NEW STRATEGIES TO COMBAT THE DELETERIOUS IMPACTS OF HEAT STRESS THROUGH FEED RESTRICTIONS AND DIETARY SUPPLEMENTATION (VITAMINS, MINERALS) IN BROILERS

List of authors:

1. Abdelhameed.S.A.mohamed, Egypt, Minia University, Faculty of Agriculture, Department of Animal Production. E-mail: abdalhmed.salah@yahoo.com, Tel. +7917-099-33-25.
2. Alexander R.Lofovski, Russia, Astrakhan State University, E-mail: all.lozo@yandex.ru, Tel. +7937-128-85-24.
3. Amany M.A. Ali, Egypt, Minia University, Faculty of Science, Department of Botany and Microbiology. E-mail: amany.science@yahoo.com, Tel. +7917-197-05-06.

Corresponding author:

Abdelhameed S.A.mohamed,
Ph.D. student at Astrakhan State University, 20a Tatischev Str., Astrakhan, 414056, Russia. Assistant lecturer at Department of Animal and Poultry Production, Faculty of Agriculture, Minia University, Egypt. E-mail: abdalhmed.salah@yahoo.com